

Heber light & power Office Crew

Heber Light and Power

Heber Light and Power

raises rates fifteen percent

According to Ray Farrell, Manager of Heber Light and Power Company, a customer rate increase of fifteen percent will go into effect for the billing period beginning Sept. 1.

"Heber Light and Power," stated Mr. Farrell, "has tried to absorb operating costs but has found this to be impossible." For the billing period ending Aug. 31, Heber Light and Power had only a net profit of $9,000 after paying bills which Farrell related is hardly a sufficient amount to cover costs.

Heber Light and Power is in the process of buying into Hunter II owned by Utah Power and Light. Hunter II is a project which will allow municipalities to get into the power business. By owning a portion of this resource, it is Mr. Farrell's contention that billing to customers will become cheaper within the next two or three years.

The last rate hike to Heber Light and Power customers was in November of 1979 and was an increase of 10 percent.

raises rates fifteen percent

2 Oct 1980

According to Ray Farrell, Manager of Heber Light and Power Company, a customer rate increase of fifteen percent will go into effect for the billing period beginning Sept. 1.

"Heber Light and Power," stated Mr. Farrell, "has tried to absorb operating costs but has found this to be impossible." For the billing period ending Aug. 31, Heber Light and Power had only a net profit of $9,000 after paying bills which Farrell related is hardly a sufficient amount to cover costs.

Heber Light and Power is in the process of buying into Hunter II owned by Utah Power and Light. Hunter II is a project which will allow municipalities to get into the power business. By owning a portion of this resource, it is Mr. Farrell's contention that billing to customers will become cheaper within the next two or three years.

The last rate hike to Heber Light and Power customers was in November of 1979 and was an increase of 10 percent.

Heber Light and Power

raises rates fifteen percent

Wave 2 Oct 1980

According to Ray Farrell, Manager of Heber Light and Power Company, a customer rate increase of fifteen percent will go into effect for the billing period beginning Sept. 1.

"Heber Light and Power," stated Mr. Farrell, "has tried to absorb operating costs but has found this to be impossible." For the billing period ending Aug. 31, Heber Light and Power had only a net profit of $9,000 after paying bills which Farrell related is hardly a sufficient amount to cover costs.

Heber Light and Power is in the process of buying into Hunter II owned by Utah Power and Light. Hunter II is a project which will allow municipalities to get into the power business. By owning a portion of this resource, it is Mr. Farrell's contention that billing to customers will become cheaper within the next two or three years.

The last rate hike to Heber Light and Power customers was in November of 1979 and was an increase of 10 percent.